My apologies to those waiting (im)patiently for their copy of the 2010 volume of Te Reo. As pointed out to the Linguistic Society in my Editor's report for the 2010 year, the delay in pulling together this volume is a result of the low number of manuscript submissions during the year. At the request of the Society, this volume is appearing after minimal delay, but with only a small number of contributions. While being small in number, the papers in this volume are nevertheless high in quality.

I reiterate here the request made at the 2010 conference and throughout the year – please continue to consider Te Reo as a suitable publication location, and supervisors please continue to urge your research students to write up aspects of their research for the journal as a means of disseminating their work. I hope that the 2011 volume might be as good but more substantial than the current one.
