

CONFERENCE PROGRAMME

THURSDAY 27 NOVEMBER

08.00–08.45	Registrations open
08.45–09.00	Welcome – Room 4B06
09.00–10.00	Plenary 1 – Room 4B06 Associate Professor Nicola Daly Can something as small as a picturebook contribute to something as big as language revitalisation?
10.00–10.30	MORNING TEA
	4B06	4D11	4D12	4D13	4D14
Session 1	Current issues for linguists	Attitudes, ideologies and multilingualism	Phonetics – te reo Māori	Typology	English language learners
Chair	Tony Fisher	Marianne Gorter	Joshua Wilson Black	Angelicia Thane	Karen Ashton
10.30–11.00	Jessep Official Language Legislation in Aotearoa NZ	Huang Language ideologies of traditional Chinese script among mainland Chinese netizens	Haami-Wells Understanding the impact of acoustic environments on the acoustic cues of te reo Māori monophthongs	Lee, Syed & Grefnes Reduplicated attributive adjectives	Wang (Haixia) Exploring Chinese EFL learners' self-regulated strategies in learning spoken English beyond the classroom.
11.00–11.30	Marra & Holmes Examining gender equity in responses to the Equal Pay Amendment Act	Panther (Noriko) Thinking, feeling, acting: East Asian attitudes toward communication disorders in Aotearoa New Zealand	Culhane, Hay, King, Panther & Todd Gradient and individual morphological effects on the production of vowel sequences in te reo Māori	Chen Geographical typology as a window into the evolution of a language family	Aliyar & Siyanova-Chanturia Learning L2 vocabulary from listening to songs
11.30–12.00	Jones Incorporating a Sceptical Stance towards GenAI Across a Linguistics Program	Thakur Linguistic Landscape of Eateries: Menu, Methods and More	Shields, Keegan & Watson Exploring variation in the nature and duration of Māori /r/	Woodfield Philippine languages that are not Philippine-type: Nominative-accusativity in the Buhidic subgroup	Chan, Skalicky & Siyanova-Chanturia Self-perceptions of English sarcasm use by L1 English speakers and L2 English speakers of Cantonese and Mandarin L1
12.00–12.30	Seals Actively Reducing Symbolic Violence in Research Interactions	Almirabi How Much of the FUTURE Is BEHIND in Arabic? A View on Arabic Culture and Embodiment	Derrick Speech airflow outside the mouth in te reo Māori	Fowler A typology of raising to object, with special reference to Austronesian	Zhan, Elgort & Siyanova-Chanturia Learning of semantic prosody in the first and second language
12.30–13.30	LUNCH

LINGUISTIC SOCIETY OF NEW ZEALAND ANNUAL CONFERENCE 2025

	4B06	4D11	4D12	4D13	4D14
Session 2	Te reo Māori – grammar and lexicon	Gender and emotion	Phonetics – New Zealand English	Text and Technology
Chair	Julie Barbour	Corinne Seals	Jacq Jones	Haixia Wang
13.30-14.00	Dichtel The elusive i and ki	Ravi Trans and/or Asian: Discursive constructions of identity by transgender Asian young people and their families	Rosoff “Leader-Lagger” Vowels and Correlating Ideologies	Mills & Calhoun Individual Differences in Silent Reading
14.00-14.30	Panther (Forrest) Verbal Semantics and the Māori Passive Suffix	Calhoun, Warren & Gilbert Can changing listeners’ beliefs affect their iconic pitch associations?	MacIver Rethinking the Direction of the NEAR–SQUARE Merger in New Zealand English	Zhang Will learners’ attitudes to ChatGPT-generated written corrective feedback change following use?
14.30-15.00	Taylor-Brown, Rosoff, Shriver, Barlow, Esteban, Hay & Culhane Phrase-final lengthening as evidence for the cognitive representation of ‘part of speech’ in te reo Māori	Ben-Dom Sex-Based Differences in the Acoustic Expression of Emotion in Parkinsonian Speech	Wilson Black Exploring Variation in Articulatory Setting in New Zealand English Using Facial Tracking	Gan Writing with machines: How AI assistance shapes linguistic structures
15.00-15.30	Dodgson, Chen & Neha Changes in colour terms in te reo Māori – a cross-generational study	Rathnayake, James, Nicholas, Leoni, Watson & Keegan Towards Developing an Emotional Speech Database for te reo Māori	Sheard, Clark & McAuliffe Age-grading and centralisation of the New Zealand English vowel space	Wong Reddit as a source for perceptual dialectology in New Zealand English
15.30-16.00	AFTERNOON TEA
16.00-17.30	Linguistic Society of New Zealand AGM – Room 4B06
18.00	DINNER – Southern Cross Garden Bar Restaurant, 39 Abel Smith Street, Wellington

DAY TWO

FRIDAY 28 NOVEMBER

08.30-09.00	Registrations open
09.00-10.00	Plenary 2 – Room 4B06 Dr Ake Nicholas Noa atu 'e ngarungaru te tai - tūkētūkē te au rima i tō tere'anga Even though the sea is choppy you have many different hands on your journey
10.00-10.25	MORNING TEA
	4B06	4D11	4D12	4D13	4D14
Session 3	Revitalisation and documentation	Phonetics	Situated interactions	Austronesian and Papuan languages	L2 English
Chair	Ake Nicholas	Lynn Clark	Angelicia Thane	Hannah Woodfield	Mengxuan Zhang
10.25-10.55	Richardson Stancetaking vis-à-vis tokenistic language as identity construction among non-Māori learner-speakers of te reo Māori	Yuan Rethinking Categorization of Fricative Vowels through Acoustic and Ultrasound Evidence	Vine “You can have a virtual chocolate fish”: Hybrid meetings during COVID-19	Chen, Pramastiwi, Neha & Dodgson Colour in flux: Evolution in the Polynesian colour lexicons through migration and colonisation	Kotoh Profiling L2 Spoken Formulaic Language
10.55-11.25	Barbour, Joseph, Daly, Price, Tahau-Hodges, Teepa, Vanderschantz, Waitere & Walker Reclaiming te reo Māori through HUIA Publishers’ translingual children’s picturebooks	Tiratanti Designing Semi-Controlled Elicitation Tasks for Prosodic Prominence Study in Thai: Balancing Naturalness and and Phonetic Control	Tan Alignment Among Community Gardeners	Coates Patterns of Polysemy between linear and affinal kinship terminologies in Austronesian languages	Qi & Siyanova-Chanturia Phrase versus subpart frequency effects in production of multi-word expressions
11.25-11.55	Thao Asian-Pacific Indigenous and Minority Language Preservation through Generative AI	Qian Is vowel covariation shared between bilinguals’ two languages?	Kurakan The Pragmatic Significance of Non-verbal (Silence) Communication in an Intercultural Workplace	Stansfield Proto-Austronesian: a reconsideration of the Formosan data	Wang (Xin) Investigating the effect of high-variability phonetic training under various acoustic environments on vowel length identification for L2 listeners
11.55-12.25	Rangelov, Ridge & Takau Linguistics in Vanuatu 45 years after Independence	Khasanah & Calhoun Marking Contrastive Focus in Bahasa Indonesia	McKee & Major Address strategies in online announcements in New Zealand Sign Language	Greenhill Tentatively tracing Trans-New Guinea: A phylogenetic evaluation of potential deeper relationships	Song Conceptual Metaphors Related to “Stone” in English and Chinese
12.25-13.25	LUNCH

LINGUISTIC SOCIETY OF NEW ZEALAND ANNUAL CONFERENCE 2025

	4B06	4D11	4D12	4D13	4D14
Session 4	Language contact – NZE and te reo Māori	NZE	Health and narrative	Heritage language maintenance	Language description
Chair	Sasha Calhoun	Karen Ashton	Haixia Wang	Arianna Berardi-Wiltshire	Victoria Chen
13.25-13.55	Mattingley, King, Hay, Panther & Todd What non-Māori-speaking adults in New Zealand know about Māori syntax	Ross Exploring Auckland's role in the development of New Zealand English	Malik, Calude & Ulatowski Breast Cancer Talk: A Cross-Linguistic Study of Lexical Verbs occurring with generic pronoun 'You'	Gorter Heritage Language Maintenance and family relations dynamics: a children's perspective	Flaws Multiple exponence in Paicî determiners
13.55-14.25	Burnette, Calude, Whaanga & Rosseel Children's acquisition of the social meaning of te reo Māori loanwords in New Zealand English	Udawatta Can Vowel Space Visualisation Reveal How Text-to-Speech Systems Learn?	Thane Public health communication on Instagram	Connelly The professional experiences of heritage language teachers in New Zealand	Ma Demonstrative System in the Youyang Dialect
14.25-14.55	Pohl, Claude, Whaanga, Rosseel & Zenner Connected by aroha or by love? Eliciting preferences for lexical variation in Aotearoa New Zealand	Udomphol Rhetorical Moves and Linguistic Strategies in New Zealand CEO Sustainability Letters	Fan & Siyanova-Chanturia A Longitudinal Study of Lexical Diversity and Multiword Expressions in Mandarin-Speaking School-Age Children's Written Narratives	van Eyndhoven Identity, Language Shift and Maintenance among New Zealand's nineteenth-century Scottish immigrants	Barbour, Wessels & Tarosa Expressing multiple human participants in the Malekula languages
14.55-15.15	AFTERNOON TEA
15.15-16.15	Plenary 3 – Room 4B06 Associate Professor Hona Black Te Huringa o te Tai: Where the tide turns – Reawakening Domains Beyond Revitalisation
16.15-16.30	CLOSING – Room 4B06				